Purpose

This policy describes the requirements for academic progress.

Policy Details

The minimum cumulative grade point average (GPA) needed for successful progress is established and communicated to the student in writing by each program. This GPA level may be higher, but no lower, than 3.0, which is the standard of the College. If, after 18 semester hours of regular class work, a student's cumulative GPA falls below the minimum, or if, in the view of the student's Faculty Committee, the student is not making adequate progress, including research, the student's Faculty Committee (or the program's Graduate Studies Committee, or equivalent, if a Faculty Committee has not yet been formed) will review the case.

Subjective appraisal by the faculty of the student's progress and potential may be considered. Other attributes, primarily those concerned with the level of professionalism expected of a student in a particular discipline, may also be considered.

The Committee will submit a recommendation to the Program Chair or Program Director for resolution of the deficiency or dismissal. After review by the Program Chair or Director, the recommendation will be communicated to the Dean for review. After consideration of the recommendation and other factors relevant to the student's progress, the Dean will decide whether to allow the student to continue in the program.

If a plan for resolution of the deficiency is accepted, the student will be placed on academic probation and will have one year (two terms) to resolve the deficiency. If after two terms the GPA remains below 3.0, the student will be dismissed.
